ORGANISATIONAL CONTEXT

The Aboriginal Legal Service (NSW/Limited) (ALS) commenced operations on 1 July 2006. The ALS provides legal services to Aboriginal clients across NSW/ACT. It was established as a Public Benevolent Institution and operates to assist economically and socially disadvantaged Aboriginal people to understand and protect their rights in the legal system.

The ALS Board, which consists of the Chairperson and 13 voting Directors includes the Chair and CEO plus 2 Honorary Directors, establishes the broad policies and strategic plan of the ALS. The ALS is the largest agency delivering legal services to Aboriginal clients in Australia, comprising a head office in Sydney (Redfern) and 23 offices in metropolitan, Practice and remote centres across NSW/ACT.

In late 2016, the ALS was successful in winning the contract to manage and administer the Greater Sydney Aboriginal Tenancy Service (GSATS) and the Western Aboriginal Tenant Advice and Advocacy Service (WATAAS).

The key programs and services provided by the ALS include:

1. General ALS Service

2. The Aboriginal Tenant Advice and Advocacy Services

- The Greater Sydney Aboriginal Tenancy Service (GSATS) is currently based in Redfern but will be relocating to St Mary's in April/May 2017;
- GSATS catchment area spans from Gosford to Helensburgh and west to the Blue Mountains;

- The Western Aboriginal Tenant Advice and Advocacy Service (WATAAS) is based in Dubbo.
- WATAAS catchment area covers as far as Broken Hill, Bourke, Walgett, Collarenebri, Lake Cargelligo, West Wyalong, Cowra and Lithgow
- GSATS and WATAAS provide advice, advocacy and support to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people with their tenancy matters.
- Our experienced staff provides assistance to tenants such as: telephone advice regarding the Residential Tenancy Act; negotiations with landlords; assist with applications for housing support including transfers; appeals and attendance at the NSW Civil and Administrative Tribunal (NCAT).
- GSATS and WATAAS services along with other Aboriginal and mainstream tenancy services are funded by the NSW Department of Fair Trading via a triennial bidding funding cycle.
- The current funding cycle commenced on 1 July 2016 and these positions will be subject to the continuation of management by the ALS beyond the 3 year funding cycle.

 - conducting strategic litigation to advance the interests of tenants;
 - supporting Tenants Advice and Advocacy Services; and
 - training tenancy advocates and other community organisations

The ALS Difference

- ALS still provides the most remote legal assistance service, more than any other legal provider. In some remote areas we are the only lawyers available. No one else delivers services beyond Dubbo, NSW.
- Our lawyers visit every Court in NSW and ACT on court circuits. This is far more than any other legal service provider is achieving.
- Unlike other legal service providers, we work on Saturdays in various remote locations in the Bail court to ensure Aboriginal offenders are not locked up unnecessarily for three nights over the weekend. Some of our field officers are allowed by the courts to represent clients in Bail Court.
- Each ALS office is a community hub for the local township. When an Aboriginal person walks through the door their issue might be about housing, welfare payments, licensing, or family problems, or it might be a legal issue. Each office has local staff who are knowledgeable about their town and the services in it, and they provide every Aboriginal person that walks in with information, and they link people to the appropriate service provider, doctor, financial counsellor or otherwise.
- ALS staff members in urban, Practice and remote communities are essentially Ambassadors for the Service and in consulting and advocating for the legal needs of Aboriginal people.
- Staff regularly attends national, state, and local meetings, committees and forums.
- ALS is one of the largest Aboriginal community organisation employers in NSW, with over sixty Aboriginal employees, including lawyers, field officers, administration officers, managers, and the CEO.
- We are committed to up-skilling our Aboriginal staff and regularly provide further education and training opportunities.
- Each year our organisation is awarded a low-risk rating by the Australian Government Attorney-General.
- Huge numbers of ex ALS employees have gone on to become respected members of the legal fraternity as Judges, Magistrates, Barristers, or in policy areas in government.

• Through our Custody Notification Service, our attendance at national, state/territory and local meetings, and through our local community legal education inputs, we have had a positive cultural influence on organisations and people, including the NSW police force, Corrective Services, and Family and Community Services.

SELECTION PROCESS REQUIREMENTS and KEY POLICY AREAS

All appointments to ALS are based on merit. This means that each applicant is assessed on merit against the knowledge, skills, abilities, experience, qualifications and standard of work performance identified in the position description and selection criteria.

THE SELECTION PANEL

The selection panel is responsible for selecting the best suited candidate for the position. The selection is based on merit and the selected candidate will best satisfy the selection criteria. The selection committee must base its decision on material presented by the applicants in writing, at interview, and from referees. Interview candidates will be advised of the composition of the panel prior to interview.

Short listing

If there are a number of applicants for the position, the selection panel will assess each application in order to identify which applicants will be further assessed.

Interviews

The members of the selection panel have a variety of selection techniques available to them. The most common technique used in the ALS is the interview, which may take the form of:

- A structured interview in which a series of predetermined questions relating to the selection criteria are asked of each applicant. Additionally, questions may be asked which explore issues raised by the applicant's responses
- Case studies in which the panel gives the applicant a realistic scenario and asks them what they would do in the given situation

Applicants are ranked according to how well they address the selection criteria, both in their written application and during the interview.

Reference Check

In your application, nominate at least two referees who have firsthand knowledge of your work performance - preferably your current or most recent supervisor. Be sure that you state their name, position, organisation/department and phone number.

The checking of references is a technique that confirms or clarifies claims that you have made in your application, interview or other selection activities. At the end of the interview process, the selection panel will contact the identified referees for those applicants who are being considered for the position.

If you have not mentioned your current supervisor as a referee, the selection panel may still wish to contact them if you are considered for appointment. Your consent will be required prior to any contact being made.

Your responsibilities to your referees

- Ask if they will act as a referee for you and notify them when you apply.
- Make sure that your referee is comfortable with your application and that they consider that you have the necessary skills to undertake this type of position.
- If you are short listed for an interview, give them a copy of the position description, which includes the selection criteria. This allows them time to think about their responses.
